ACTIVITY IN BUILDING TRADES; MANY STRUCTURES UNDER WAY

One Four-Story Business Block Going up This Year on Fifth Street

NEW DWELLINGS NUMEROUS

Many Houses Going up at Various Parts of Borough—Contracts Approximate Close to $100,000—School Additions to Cost $25,000.

With building work under way approximating in total value close to $100,000 one of the busiest springs in the building trade in the last decade is promised. One of the notable improvements for which excavation is now under way is that of a four-story brick business block which will be erected for Dr. F. C. Stahlman on Fifth street just above Fallowfield at a cost of from $30,000 to $40,000. Another notable improvement that is being started is that of additions to the high school building that the Charleroi Lumber company will build at a cost of approximately $25,000. Among the features might be considered the large number of dwellings which are going up, occupying various desirable locations.

The business block that will be constructed for Dr. Stahlman will be size 40 by 100 feet. The first floor will be arranged for a store room and the second will be fixed into apartments. The third floor will be given over to office purposes and the fourth will be similar. Among the features of construction will be that elevator service will be supplied and that all the offices will have outside lights. A part of the building will probably be ready for occupancy in September. Though the entire will hardly be completed before the holidays.

It is the intention to have the high school building additions in shape for use by the beginning of the school term and with ordinarily good weather at the start this will be possible.

A large number of building permits have been taken out since the first of the year, according to the report of Borough Clerk Ira I. Nickeson. Following is the list: Cary Piper, for additions to pharmacy building at Fifth and Fallowfield, Joseph Clements, repairs to building at Seventh and Fallowfield; J. W. Latchem, brick building on McKean, $3,-; Walter Byerly, residence, Meadow and Fourth, $3,000; Fayette Construction company, residence for Floyd Chalfant Meadow avenue, $2,600; Dr. F. C. Stahlman, four-story brick on Fifth, $35,000; S. K. Scott, repairs, Fallowfield avenue; W. P. Sugers, residence Shady avenue and Sixth, $3,000; Charleroi Lumber company for dwelling and store at Second and Meadow for Mrs. S. Jobes, $2,500; Motz Lumber company, for residence on Shady avenue near Fourth street, $2,500; Charleroi Lumber company, for residence, Oakland avenue, $2,000; Peter Kalicicki, for additions near Tenth on Lincoln, $1,000; J. H. Pearson, for repairs, Crest avenue; A. B. Slaughter, dwelling on Fallowfield near First, $2,800; C. Welch for addition, First street, $1,000; A. B. Slaughter, for residence for George Stablein, Crest avenue, $4,500.

The erection of at least one church building is contemplated for this year, it to be that of the First Baptist church. Details are now being worked out.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST VAGRANCY BECOMES AN ORGANIZED THING

First Victim Arrested and Sentenced For Offense to Six Months Term in The Workhouse.

The first victim of a campaign against vagrancy being instituted by the police with the coming of fine spring weather is Frank Mercer, who Saturday was arrested on a vagrancy charge and who later was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the workhouse. Information was made before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice by whom Mercer was sentenced.

"There is plenty of work for every one and there is not the least excuse for street loafing," said Chief of Police C. W. Albright this morning. "There are others we propose to go after and similar doses to that of Mercer will be given them."

NORMAL SCHOOL MATTER DECIDED

Court Maintains Yarnal Proceedings Are Against Private Corporation

SCHOOL HAS STATE RIGHTS

Judge J. A. McIlvaine, in an opinion handed down Saturday, decrees, in the matter of the counter petition of J. E. Masters, president of the board of trustees of the Southwestern State Normal school at California, to quash the rule and service thereof upon him issued, that the rule and service thereof be quashed. It is in the suit of C. W. Yarnall against the said school and grows out of a dispute over the possession, by the school of certain streets and alleys in the Morgan plan California.

The case has been in litigation about nine years. In a bill in equity disposed of in 1907 the court handed down a decree enjoining the Southwestern State Normal school, then a private corporation, from maintaining a certain fence and from in any manner obstructing or interfering with the free use and enjoyment by Mr. Yarnall as owner of the abutting lots of the streets and alleys or any part thereof, as laid out and dedicated to public use in said Morgan plan.

In February of this year Mr. Yarnall came into court and averred that notwithstanding this injunction, the school now owned by the commonwealth was interfering with these streets and alley and obstructing the same. He asked that a rule be issued to show cause why an attachment should not issue for contempt. This rule was served on J. E. Masters, president of the board of trustees of the school, now controlled by the state.

Mr. Masters to this rule filed a counter petition. He asked that the rule be set aside and quashed. This the court does in its opinion just filed. Mr. Masters averred that the injunc-

PUMP BOATS BURNED AT THE ECLIPSE MINE

Two Destroyed Sunday Evening—Bentleyville Visited by Disastrous Conflagration at Early Morning Hour

Two pump boats belonging to the Pittsburg Coal company at the Eclipse mine were burned Sunday night at a loss to the company of about $1,-000. Martin Herman who was in charge at the time went to one end of one of the boats and upon starting back discovered the fire. This was about 9 o'clock. Nothing could be done to control the flames. However a coal barge which was nearby was saved.

At Bentleyville an eight-room building belonging to Sebastian Manupello was destroyed by fire at about 12:30 this morning. The fire started in a barber shop in one part of the building and quickly spread. The loss will approximate $2,500. The cause of the fire is unknown.

PREPARING FOR STATE WIDE GOOD ROADS DAY

Active Plans Laid by Highway Forces For Work on the Roads May 25 Following Proclamation of Day Set Aside by Governor Brumbaugh.

In the week that has elapsed since Governor Brumbaugh issued his proclamation fixing Thursday, May 25 as "State-wide Good Roads Day," plans have developed rapidly for making this day a success.

The governor has placed himself at the disposal of the State Highway Department and will spend "State-wide Good Roads Day" at work on the roads, as he did last year.

Organizations, formed in many counties last year to further the object, have taken up their work anew and are making arrangements for a large turn-out on the highways this year.

In a number of counties where there were no organizations last year, steps have been taken to secure united action.

In Venango county last year work to the estimate of $10,623.00 was done on the highways on "State-wide Good Roads Day." The number of men who worked in that county last year was 2,092 and 426 teams were employed on 184 miles of roads. Eighty-three carloads of slag being used to repair the condition of the highways.

Venango county's example is typical of the counties which had live organizations working to make the day successful. Arrangements are being made in many other counties to surpass the work of last year and reports received at the State Highway Department indicate that "State-wide Good Roads Day" of 1916 will set a high record of achievement for future years to meet.

CRESCENT MINE RESUMES IN ACCORDANCE WITH AGREEMENT

SEVENTY-FIVE COKE OVENS ARE STARTED AT MARIANNA

More Will be Put Into Operation Shortly—Mines up Pigeon Creek Valley Running Steadily.

Seventy-five coke ovens at Marianna have been lighted and more will be put into operation shortly. The mines there are now running about half capacity, but as soon as conditions permit, operations will be resumed in full.

Most of the Pigeon creek mines are busy. Likewise most of the Monongahela valley mines are in operation. Vesta No. 4 started last Monday and others which had suspended a brief time until the wage scale matters could be adjusted are working.

TALBOT'S PAL IS WANTED NOW

Search for James F. Dillon, Alleged to be Bank Robber, is Under Way

START MOVE TO GET MONEY

While the search for James F. Dillon, pal of Thomas H. Talbot and who is declared to be the other bandit that participated in the robbery of the First National bank of Houston, was continued over Sunday, there were no new developments in the case.

That James F. Dillon was supposed to be the other robber became known Saturday when it leaked out that information was made against him last week at the same time Talbot was arraigned. The charges against Dillon are the same as those against Talbot, felonious entry, robbery and larceny and were made by Cashier Joseph K. McNutt at Canonsburg. Until the robbery occurred Dillon had worked on a farm near McGovern. Dillon is thought to be the ringleader.

Another development in connection with the robbery Saturday was the filing of a suit in Pittsburg in common pleas court against Talbot to recover $14,985.95 of the $16,645.95 taken from the First National bank. The suit was filed by Attorney J. C. Sheriff, of Pittsburg, counsel for the bank.

Of the money stolen, $1,661 is believed to have been found about Talbot's home at Russelton by Burns detectives.

The proceeding is a novel one and is brought under the act of 1869. It is cited that Talbot had made numerous purchases of property, real and personal and made deposits in banks with a portion of the remainder and still fraudulently conceals part of the sum.

The allegation is also made that Talbot is about to assign, dispose of or remove such property, moneys and right of action, including part of the money stolen from the bank with intent to defraud his creditors.

Miss Melva Daryman visited over Sunday at her home at Blythedale.

CRESCENT MINE RESUMES IN ACCORDANCE WITH AGREEMENT

Plant Started for First Time in More Than Two Months' Period

ACME MINERS ARE RETURNING

Operations Resumed at Bentleyville Under Agreement Which Held Previous To April 1 When Walk Out Occurred—No Work at Ellsworth.

In line with the decision reached under a compromise agreement Friday last, miners of the Crescent mine of the Pittsburg Coal company at California returned to work this morning and the mine was started up for the first time in a period of more than two months.

Approximately 500 men appeared at the workings in response to the call. Gradually the number will be increased until the mine is running full. It takes 1,300 to keep the Crescent in complete operation. Some difficulty will be experienced at first from the fact that many formerly employed there have gone to other fields to take up steady work.

Miners of the Acme mines at Bentleyville of the Pittsburg-Westmoreland Coal company have returned to work under the same scale that prevailed before they walked out on April 1, declaring that the Acme should be in the third pool as well as those in the Monongahela river valley, instead of in the fourth pool as it is now rated. Between 500 and 600 miners are employed in the two workings of the company. Work was partly resumed Saturday and the mines will be running full capacity within a few days.

The situation remains unchanged at Ellsworth and Cokeburg, where miners refused to work under the old scale and where the company declared an indefinite suspension of operations paying off all their men.

"OLD TIMER'S SERVICE" IS OBSERVED BY ENDEAVORERS

Sunday evening the Christian Endeavor society of the First Christian church observed "Old Timer's Meeting." Communications were read from people who resided in Charleroi a number of years ago and while here were workers in the society. Many who are still in the society and have been for a number of years were called upon and gave talks of the work in the days past. Special music was rendered by the Baraca class quartet and Miss Isabella Dorbrit sang a solo.

ON HONESTY.

The story of the person who returned the money he believed he had dishonestly kept from others helps to bolster up a fast waning trust in the human race. That he did not restore what was not rightfully his, as soon as he discovered his error, is against him, but some praise is due him for having at last made restitution.

It is never too late to mend, remarks the Washington Reporter. That applies to cities and nations as well as individuals. The only difference is that an individual has but a few short years in which to evidence a change of heart and front, while the divisions of state have almost an unlimited period in which to improve. Unless of course they get into some such predicament as Sodom and Gomorrah.

It is seldom, however that any one has destruction staring him in the face as did those ancient cities, the consequence of this mistakes. Less powerful forces, however, are at work to influence men and women to change for the better. It may be a revival. It may be the chance word of a preacher, or saloonkeeper, a friend or an enemy. It may be any of a thousand unexpected things, small in themselves, but immense in their results upon some life.

But anyway the change—conversion, if you will—comes, and the transgressor, not so much against his neighbor or against God, as against himself, sees his error and strives to redeem himself. He can wipe out his intention to stray from the path of honor, but he can never wipe out entirely its effect. That he has come back to his devotion to truth, has eradicated all the sham and hypocrisy, the deceit and selfishness, the unjustness and crookedness of his nature, is cause for thanksgiving.

One such instance can act as leaven to uplift a community and cause doubting Thomases to pause.

TREASON IN THE KITCHEN

The place to start this preparedness business, according to Senator Smoot, is in the kitchen. In a speech before the Senate, he lamented that "the American garbage-can is the fattest in all the world"—a statement which in itself is a powerful indictment of American wastefulness—and completed his indictment as follows:

"It is a crime, and is wicked in the sight of God to have the products of the farm made next to useless by poor cooking. Tens of thousands of homes are ruined by helpless and ignorant housekeeping.

This is getting down to fundamentals, says the Punxsutawney Spirit. The home, we have been taught, is the citidel of society and the bulwark of the nation. It is absurd to place our faith in armies alone. An army "travels on its stomach," and if American stomachs are ruined by poor cooking, what hope is there in military programs? Also, if our national wealth is squandered by untrained cooks, we are handicapped economically, as well as gastronomically in the struggle with other nations.

It would be interesting to have the American housewife's reply to this arraignment of her peculiar department in the national scheme of things. Is she really as derelict in duty as the senator charges? And if there is such unpreparedness in the kitchen what business have our women shouldering guns and drilling in the armories, as they are doing in some of our big cities?

Seventy-six out of eighty-seven cases of typhoid fever which occurred in a recent outbreak have been traced by the United States Public Health service to infected milk. Had the first cases been reported to a trained health officer the outbreak could have been stamped out promptly. When will we learn that disease prevention is sure and cheap?

That closer guards should be thrown about matrimonial alliances and that couples should be taught in some way to consider more the seriousness of marriage and the sanctity of the home, is the thought that is driven home by the quotation of the divorce court statistics for the current term. Thirty-six mismated couples asked for separation and won their decrees. Next term there will be possibly as great a number. "Were you an attorney," one man states" and could hear the stories told, you would think there ought to be more divorces than there are." That is it. But the condition would not be such with closer restrictions.

Possibly more building work is in progress now than there has been at any one period for more than a year. This is good news. Building makes a town. One of the outstanding features is that of the good structures which are going up. Charleroi has reached the stage where people can foresee a good future, and they are showing their confidence in the town and community by building substantially for themselves as residents.

It is said that a prominent young lady from the Allegheny County side of the Monongahela River but employed in one of the leading stores of this city and a popular employe of one of the coal companies and it is not the Pittsburg Coal Co., will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony before the May flowers begin to bloom.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The applicant or chauffeur interviewed Mrs. Newrich.

"We call our servants by their last names," she said. "What's your name?"

"You had best call me Thomas, ma'am," replied the applicant.

"No, we insist that you be willing to be called by your last name. Otherwise you won't do at all."

The chauffeur said that he was willing to be called by his last name but didn't think the family would like to use it.

"What is your last name, then?" said his prospective employer, somewhat coldly, as though she expected a revelation of international scandal.

"Darling, ma'am, Thomas Darling."

A stranger in an Indian village thought he might improve the time by attending service in the local church. At the conclusion of a lengthy talk the minister announced that he should like to meet the board.

The stranger, in company with several persons, proceeded to walk to the front of the church. The pastor, thinking there must be some misunderstanding, said to him:

"I believe, sir, you are mistaken. This is just to be a meeting of the board."

"Well," replied the visitor, "I have listened to you talk for more than an hour and if anyone has been more bored than I have been I should like to know who it is."—The Christian Herald.

NORMAL SCHOOL

tion suit above referred to was against the Southwestern State Normal, a private corporation. He said he was not connected with the school as a privte corporation at the time and had no knowledge of the proceedings at that time. He further set out that he is not president of school as a private corporation but believed G. M. Mitchell held that office.

Further the court holds, in referring to the matter in dispute, since the Normal school is now owned by the commonwealth and comes under the regulations of the school code of 1915 it has a right to take land for school purposes. The court refers to the act that any State Normal school may take land required by it for use. It may also condemn and take portions of public highways extending into, on or upon lands of the school, and not terminating in any other highway, where the land for use lies on both sides of the highway. The usual condemnation proceedings are followed.

The court suggests that if C. W. Yarnall purposes to call in question the right of the Normal school, as now owned by the commonwealth, to condemn these streets and alleys in question, his remedy is to file an injunction bill against the school, as a municipal corporation, that is in a state institution.

A LITERARY RIDDLE.

Why Does a Woman Write Differently From a Man?

Why is it that you can always tell a story written by a man from one written by a woman? I saw the thing put to a rather severe test within the last month, with results that were startling.

Ten men and women, all of whom do considerable novel reading, had had dinner together. One of the men asked the question I put at the top of these paragraphs. He was in his own home and went to some trouble to prove that the sex of authors is an easy thing to determine.

Giving to each of the nine others a pencil and piece of paper, the host proceeded to read extracts from twenty different books and magazines, selecting parts in which proper names would not identify the story. As he read each person wrote down his guess as to whether the author was a man or a woman.

Of the 180 answers made by the nine persons to the twenty tests all but eight were correct. As he kept the books from which he read concealed it was impossible to get aid with the guessing.

But, although everybody guessed right almost every time, no one could still give a good definition of the conundrum, Why does a woman write differently from a man?—Philadelphia Ledger.

INFLAMMABLE BOMBS.

Substances Used in the Making of These Deadly Explosives.

The incendiary bomb used by the Zeppelin aircraft, as a rule, is conical, of ten inch diameter at the base, wrapped round with tarred rope and having a metal handle at the apex. The base is a flat cup, into which a pierced metal funnel is fitted, having the ignition device and handle fitted at the top.

The funnel is generally filled with thermit. The latter, upon ignition, generates intense heat and by the time of the concussion has taken the form of molten metal, having the extraordinary high temperature of 5,000 degrees F. The molten metal is spread by the concussion.

Outside the funnel is a padding of a highly inflammable or resinous material, bound on with an inflammable form of rope. The resinous material creates a pungent smoke.

There is generally some melted white phosphorus in the bottom of the can, which develops nauseous fumes. In some cases celluloid clippings are added, and occasionally a small quantity of gasoline.—Philadelphia Press.

Buildings.

Buildings are contrivances which surround trouble, despair, pleasure, entertainment, business, indolence and plumbing.

Buildings are built with brick, mortar, cement, wood, steel and mortgages. It also takes sand to build buildings, but they should not be built on sand.

Some buildings are public and some are private. Public buildings are usually very imposing, and usually the public has been imposed upon to build them. Private buildings are frequently private in name only, especially if occupied by several inquisitive women. Such buildings are made up of a large number of stories and most of them are without foundation.

Rats, mice, fires, earthquakes and rent collectors are buildings' worst enemies.—Judge.

Long Days on Uranus.

Uranus can be claimed for a British planet. It was discovered at Bath in 1781 by the elder Sir William Herschel, the musician who became private astronomer to George III. Uranus is so distant from us and has a surface so dense that little is known about the rotation, position of the axis or number of the satellites. But the inhabitants, if they exist, may console themselves for living in a temperature approaching zero with the fact that they can seldom be dunned for income tax, because their year contains more than 30,000 days.—London Mail.

The Bull of Perillus.

Perillus of Athens is said to have invented for Phalaris, tyrant of Agrigentum, 570 B. C., a brazen bull which opened on the side to admit victims who were to be roasted by the fire which was built underneath. The dying groans of the sufferers resembled closely the roaring of a mad bull. Phalaris greatly admired the invention and by way of test roasted the inventor first. Later the populace rose in rebellion and burned Phalaris.

Venison.

The prime joint of venison is undoubtedly the haunch, though a shoulder or neck of venison properly cooked is a very toothsome dish. The loin is best cut up into chops and cutlets, the breast being only suitable for soups, ragouts and pies.

Valuable Ground.

Edythe—Did the duke say he loved you? Kate—He said he loved the ground I walked on. Edythe—Where were you when he said it? Kate—Out visiting papa's gold mine.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Diplomatic.

Father—Can the girl you are courting make a good batch of bread? Son—I can vouch for the fact that she can handle the dough all right.—Baltimore American.

Hold faithfulness and sincerity as the first principles. Sincerity is the way of heaven.—Confucius.

MORE STRENGTH FOR FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

If all the old people in Charleroi realized what Vinol will do for them we would not be able to get enough of it to supply the demand. We quote from a recent letter received from Mrs. A E Carson of Kingston, N Y.

She says—"I am 69 years of age, and had been doing for a long time with indigestion. I got run-down, was weak, dizzy and could not sleep at night. I consulted two doctors who said I had hardening of the arteries and at my age could not expect to be strong again. My daughter would give me no peace until I tried Vinol, as it had done so much for her. I have taken five bottles and my health and strength have come back so I am able to do all the housework for my family of four and I am recommending Vinol to all my friends."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz: the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil, peptonate of iron, beef peptone and a mild tonic wine. Pipers Drug Store.

Dull, lifeless eyes, colorless lips, sallow, yellow cheeks give a girl little chance for a "man" these days. Don't lose heart, just take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Don't delap—surprise yourself and friends. 35c. W. F. Hennings. adv

Is This a Change of Heart?

The gas man isn't a half bad man, and the water man is all right too. The main thing is to get acquainted. Don't fly into a range and tear your shirt if there is anything wrong. Strive to get acquained. There is lots of reason in this world that is dormant. This is just a pinch of homemade philosophy—Monessen Independent.
